Connecting BODY & MIND

Our body is a magnificent network of intelligence, with our mind being the driving power behind all thoughts. When body and mind connects, we're in an optimal state of dynamic balance. When we are in sync with our body's needs, we are able to make choices for better overall happiness, wellbeing and emotional health.

OUR BODIES COMMUNICATE TO US CLEARLY AND SPECIFICALLY, IF WE ARE WILLING TO LISTEN.

Skati Gawain

Understanding Our Body

Our bodies consist of several biological systems that carry out specific functions necessary for everyday living.

01

EMOTIONAL HEALTH

People who are emotionally healthy are in control of their emotions and behaviour. When overworked and stressed, mental fatigue sets in and ability to think clearly is compromised.

02

EYES

Giving us sight, our eyes aid us in our everyday tasks. The eye muscle is also the fastest reacting muscle of the whole body, contracting in less than 1/100th of a second.

03

LYMPHATIC SYSTEM

A drainage network made up of lymph vessels, lymph nodes and lymph. Helping the body fight off infections, lymph also helps rid the body of toxins, waste and other unwanted materials.

04

NERVOUS SYSTEM

Endorphins, also a type of neurotransmitter, are released by the Central Nervous System and they help us manage our emotions and cope with stress.

05

CIRCULATORY SYSTEM

Made up of the heart, blood and blood vessels, this system is responsible for transporting oxygen, nutrients, hormones and cellular waste products throughout the body.

MUSCLES

There are over 650 muscles in our body that also makes up 35-40% of our body weight. It is important to exercise our muscles regularly as tight and stiff muscles may result in injuries more easily.

07

TENDONS, LIGAMENTS AND JOINTS

Part of our musculoskeletal system, these fibrous connective tissues connects muscle to bone and bone to bone and are crucial in providing body movement and stability.

Modern Lifestyle Takes Its Toll On Us

PROLONG STANDING

In a day, many have to endure standing for long periods at a time, especially due to work requirements. This may result in stiff and sore muscles.

POOR POSTURE

Poor standing and sitting postures from extensive use of electronic devices can cause neck and back pain as undue stress is repeatedly placed on the same muscle groups.

HECTIC LIFESTYLE

Balancing work and family commitments, one can feel overwhelmed both physically and emotionally. Sometimes, even forgetting to take a well-deserved break in-between.

DIETARY HABITS

Modern dietary habits often include high salt and sugar content. Such eating patterns and habits may contribute to potential health risks in the long run.

INSOMNIA

Insomnia is a common form of sleeping disorder that modern dwellers suffer from. Life stressors, unhealthy sleeping patterns and eating habits contribute to this phenomenon.

STRENUOUS ACTIVITIES

Muscle strain from excessive exercise or work-related activities put one at risk of soft tissue disorder or repetitive motion injuries.

LOW WATER INTAKE

We tend to forget to reach for a cup of water and are often not as hydrated as we should be. The quantity and quality of water we drink are both equally important.

AIR POLLUTION

Each day, a person inhales the equivalent of 800 oxygen tanks! Not easily visible or noticeable, we are often surrounded by airborne allergens and germs.

Physical Impact

TENSED EYE MUSCLE

When eye muscles are stiff, the eyeball may temporarily be anchored in an out-of-focus condition. Relaxation helps restore the proper tone and allow clear vision to return.

ACHES & STIFFNESS

Instead of the usual supple state of rest, muscles may become stiff when it is not exercised often, subjected to tension or is overused from physically-demanding tasks.

DEEP VEIN THROMBOSIS

Deep Vein Thrombosis aka DVT may occur when a blood clot forms in a vein deep in a muscle, affecting blood circulation. It may even settle in a blood vessel in the heart or lungs.

Emotional Impact

FATIGUE

Fatigue is a feeling of tiredness that does not go away even when you rest. Overtime, this may result in poor concentration and ability to focus well.

STRESS

Body muscles tense up as a natural reflex in response to emotional and mental stress. Stress also affects a person's ability to focus well.

RESTLESSNESS

Restlessness is a feeling of not being able to enter a relaxed state. Affecting a person's mood and emotions, this can result in a general feeling of unhappiness.

Taking Care From Within

How we treat and take care of our body will influence the internal processes within our body systems and the way they work together that allows us to carry out our daily activities.

GOOD BLOOD FLOW

Good blood circulation can help stabilize body temperatures, transport nutrients and remove waste effectively. Poor blood circulation can negatively impact general health as the body tires more easily and rids waste less quickly.

STRENGTHENING MUSCLES

Stretching keeps muscles supple and reduces likelihood of stiffness and aches. Aiding to improve blood flow and oxygen levels to the brain, one can feel energized and also focus better.

THE 'FEEL GOOD' BOOSTER

Endorphins are among the brain chemicals known as neurotransmitters. It is also known as the body's natural pain relievers and are distributed throughout our nervous system.

IMPROVE LYMPHATIC SYSTEM

Lymph flows only in one direction – upwards towards the neck. The lymphatic system transports lymph fluid which aids in detoxification by ridding the body of toxins, waste and unwanted materials and also helps reduce water retention in the body.

EQUAL USE OF MUSCLES

Slouching, or a bad posture can weaken muscle strength and length. Good posture and spinal alignment can help prevent backache, muscular pain and reduce risk of injuries from excessive strain placed on muscles.

4 REWARDING QUALITIES

With novita M Series®

01

STIMULATE LYMPH FLOW

Unlike the circulatory system that has the heart to pump for circulation, the lymphatic system relies on everyday motion and deep breathing to pump lymph throughout the body. Massage can help improve this lymph flow and improve the body's ability to flush out toxin waste and unwanted materials.

02

ALLEVIATE BODY ACHE

Over a period of time, massage can gradually and naturally help relax stiff muscles, relieving body ache and keeping the muscles supple.

EMOTIONAL RELAXATION MENTAL REJUVENATION

Massage encourages endorphin production which can help reduce the perception of pain, improve feelings of happiness and produce a euphoric feeling. The body enters a state of rest and stimulates its natural ability to repair and renew at a cellular level.

04

PROMOTE BETTER BLOOD CIRCULATION AND METABOLISM

Massage therapy improves blood circulation and help relaxes sore and stiff muscles. Improved circulation promotes delivery of oxygen and nutrients throughout the entire body.

THERE IS SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE

01

CONVENIENCE FOR THE WORKING CLASS

All stressed out with no time to schedule in an appointment for a massage? You can fit in a rejuvenating massage session anytime in the convenience of your home.

02

BEAUTY CARE FOR THE LADIES

A massage can help improve body posture, eliminate water retention and aid in detoxification.

03

THERAPEUTIC FOR THE ELDERLY

Mimicking physical motion, the elderly can reap the physiological benefits from a massage to make up for a lack of regular exercise without needing to step out of the house.

04

HEALTH INVESTMENT FOR THE YOUTHS

Youths can benefit from the physiotherapeutic effects of a massage that helps reduce likelihood of a muscle injury after exercise, decrease soreness while also relieving mental stress.

05

RECOVERY FOR THE ATHLETES

Massage therapy promotes greater flexibility, muscle suppleness and blood circulation. It also aids to stretch the muscles for a shorter recovery time.

USEFUL TIPS FOR MASSESSES

BEFORE MASSAGE

- Avoid having a massage after a full meal. Let your body digest your meal first.
- Give yourself plenty of time, don't rush your session.
- Hydrate with a glass of HydroPlus® alkaline antioxidant water, keeping the muscles supple.

DURING MASSAGE

- Make sure you are comfortable with the massage intensity.
- Take long and deep breaths for muscle relaxation and more healthful results.
- Enjoy limitless air purity with millions of negative ions that eliminates airborne germs and allergens.

AFTER MASSAGE

- Don't get up too quickly and let your mind and body to remain in its relaxed state.
- Drink a glass of HydroPlus® alkaline antioxidant water to facilitate detoxification and muscle hydration.
- Avoid stimulants like caffeine and sugar as it can cause muscles to tense up.

WHO TO AVOID BODY MASSAGE?

Persons who is/may be pregnant, suffering from recent fractures, cancer, cardiovascular condition, contagious or infectious diseases and undergo recent surgery and any other medical conditions is not recommended to take on massage to prevent medical complications. Please seek medical advice from General practitioner/Physician prior to the massage therapy.
